Project

ECOSPHEREHUB: • Engineered a dynamic and responsive website utilizing HTML5, CSS, and JavaScript for the frontend, enhancing user engagement through an intuitive and interactive interface. Implemented a backend using Express.js and integrated MongoDB for efficient data management and storage. Demonstrated full- stack development expertise, advanced problemsolving skills, and effective collaborative project management throughout the development lifecycle.

ZERO HUNGER:

• Developed a comprehensive platform focusing on nutrition, featuring a nutritional plan, news related to nutrition, and quizzes on nutrition. Enhanced user experience by integrating interactive elements and ensuring a seamless interface. This project showcases my ability to apply software development skills to real-world problems and promote health awareness.
